

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

The heat exchanger of the present invention is capable of easily adjusting temperature of a machining liquid, e.g., slurry, etching liquid. The heat exchanger of the present invention, which adjusts temperature of the machining liquid, comprises a ceramic heat exchanging tube, which is made by baking silicon carbide (SiC).